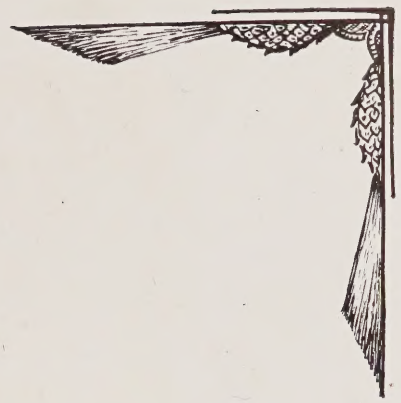
WATCH OF ST. GENEVIEVE



The Watch of Saint Genevieve

Down in the homes of the city the children sob from fright;
Trembling the women soothe them as best they may;
The men toss strained and awake through the night
Fearing the hostile horde will come with day.

"O Geneviève, soeur des Anges, réconciliez-nous avec Dieu!"

One heart and gentle face with perfect peace are bright,
Shining of God—as in the moon's light plain and city shine:
In solitude the Saint her vigil keeps the night:
But not alone who holds communion with the Heart Divine.

"O Geneviève, soeur des Anges, réconciliez-nous avec Dieu!"

Her human soul is rested for it rests in Thee. The holy handmaid
Knows no fear, but only courage—seeing God is near.

Toast to the Seniors

Our Seniors! with what joyous love
  We breathe that honored name,
For here's the class that wends its way
  To honor and to fame.

Starting now on life's broad highway,
  All undaunted, unafraid,
Caring not to look behind them
  'Till their debt to life is paid.

Having youth and high ambition,
  Ideals great and hopes the same,
All united in one purpose,
  Undivided in their aim.

With "Excelsior" as their motto,
  With true "Honor" as their creed,
With love for their Alma Mater,
This class will, yea must, succeed.

A RECIPE WELL WORTH KNOWING

Take three parts of intelligence and mix well with two parts of good humor. Season with "pep" and sincerity (it's hard to buy). Add a little personality and musical ability and stir until well blended. Now bake in a slow oven until firm; then frost on a little femininity. Serve with a sauce flavored with work well-done.

Peep-Holes

1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9 chimed the clock; nine weary, drawled out, and utterly fatigued dongs—and still the lecture continued. Oh—would it never end! At last, hopelessly bored, the venerable old Time-Keeper sought a means of diversion, and soon found it in the persons of the "sweet young graduates" of '26. There they were, five in number—excelling in quality if not in quantity!

First was Helen—the President, beloved by all—even though she did have a temper! It always goes with the Titian types, you know. But Helen is undeniably sweet—as you would soon discover, especially if you and the Physics problems didn't agree! But what is all this leading to?—Ah—there's the secret! Having known her intimately for the past four years, and having carefully studied her character, Old Father Time decided that Helen, the "helper of the needy," will not confine her charities to St. Genevieve's only—but in later years will spend her time and talents in caring for God's poor. A noble mission indeed. Helen—the Social Service Worker!

Next came Mary Jane—the best Vice-President a class ever had and quite the best cheer leader too! Herself abounding in fun and jollity, why should her future home-life not be happy also? Of course it will!—provided her perseverance holds fast in regard to conquering herself, as tenaciously as it does to combating the hardships caused when school-life and sickness suddenly fall in love and become inseparable. Only the experienced can understand!

Margaret, the competent Treasurer, followed. She whose ability is not to wither away and lie neglected, but is to be recognized by a still larger circle than that of St. Genevieve's. By means of her copious knowledge she is destined to become the Dean of some great College. Margaret——the universally renowned scholar!

Next came Bertha, the Class Reporter. She possessed more than a common share of gifts, and she was most generous with them too. In her lengthy list of accomplishments she could boast the titles of song-bird, cuisinière, embroiderer, and diligent scholar. In future years Bertha intends to concentrate all her efforts on her best talent—that of her voice; and she aims no lower than the concert stage. Bertha——the celebrated opera star!

Last, but not least (sarcasm most probably) was Mary L., the Secretary, to whom had adhered, as nick-names will do, that of "L." She was one of those people you meet sometimes, who can do a little bit of everything and not much of anything. Mary L.'s friends consider her a deep student, a lover of Literature, Art, Music, and Sports. All these offer her a wide range of choice for a future profession. Only time will tell!

And so the Old Clock dreamed and prophesied, and dreamed again.

The Voyage

(Apologies to Washington Irving)

THERE is an indescribable delight about travelling. Each time I come from Cuba to Asheville, I find new interest. When the boat moves from Havana the charm of its enchanting harbor grows on me. Mingled with the flutter of farewells, I see Morro Castle with its picturesque turrets. Farther on is the old Franciscan Monastery where the faithful monks prayed as they kept watch for pirates. Then there is the old gray Fortress where the marines were constantly on guard. The last view is that of the magnificent curving Malecon Boulevard that skirts the water's edge. We soon find ourselves in the Gulf of Mexico where there is nothing but sky and water. Flying fish jump and skim along around the boat. When the sea gulls appear everyone looks out for land. As Key West comes into view we see the Wireless Cables, and the Old Battery. When we are about to land, Americans line up as they are the first to disembark. One dreads the Custom House, but the officers do not find many doubtful things in school girls' trunks.

Jacksonville is the next stop, with orange groves attracting the eye. The landscape becomes unusually beautiful with its ever-changing sky line. As we steam into Asheville a feeling of joy takes possession of us, when we look out of the window and recognize in the waiting line the familiar habit of the nuns of Christian Education. It is with a glad, happy heart that our Voyage ends at St. Genevieve's.

The Stage Coach

(Saint Genevieve's Bus)

IT was the day before the Christmas holidays and Saint Genevieve's Bus had gathered up all the children and was on its way back to town. The small boys and girls talked merrily of the holidays and the pleasures in store for them. As the Bus neared Pack Square, a fire engine sped by, making weird sounds with its whistles and bells. This excited the children and made them jump for joy, all so anxious to see something. The good-natured chauffeur was obliged to blow the horn to restore the usual good order. The Bus had made all its stops and was now nearing The Manor where the last ones would alight. The snow was falling and the children cried in glee. The Bus stopped and the small tots ran laughing and talking to meet relatives waiting for them. I watched through the snow until they faded from my sight—I knew they were safe and happy.

The Sodality

WHAT should a good Catholic girl covet more dearly than the title, "Child of Mary"? Once in possession of it, it ought not be bartered or cast aside for any other name in all the world. Those who bear it are most privileged, for they not only are pleasing Our Lord by cherishing His Mother, but have also a double right to the protection and love of her who was His last parting gift to mankind—"Son, behold thy mother!"

In order to foster devotion to Our Blessed Mother, a sodality, affiliated to the First Primary Sodality in Rome, was founded many years ago at St. Genevieve's. Our Reverend Father Albert, O.S.B., was appointed director, and under his guidance the Children of Mary advanced in all things spiritual.

May the Children of Mary remain forever faithful to her, and, bound by the sweet ties of love, observe the rules of her Society; and may this simple prayer to her be always in our hearts:

"I love you, Mother of God and my Mother.
I love you, and I will always love you,
Mother of God and my Mother."

St. Francis Xavier Club

HAS it ever occurred to you, dear reader, that on some cold, wintry morning, when you are warm, comfortably clothed, and have perhaps partaken of a good substantial breakfast, there are, from one end of the earth to the other, a thousand, a million poor suffering members of humanity who have neither warmth, clothing, nor nourishment—who are freezing—starving?

Well, this thought forcibly came to us some years ago, and the result is, that under the guidance of our ever-zealous Mother Superior we organized our present St. Francis Xavier Club, a Senior Unit of the Catholic

Students' Mission Crusade. At present our monthly meetings are held under the direction of Reverend Mother Lorin.

Following the old adage, "Charity begins at home," we first turned our efforts towards our own country and city which are most assuredly not lacking in missions of the direst poverty. Christmas time has always found us busy, fashioning little garments for the poor at home, and to the needy missions of North Carolina we presented, as an Easter gift, what seemed to us, a most substantial check. We feel sure that some mother's heart was thus made happy and freed from its burden of toil and worry.

But we have ever tried to imitate our illustrious patron, especially in his spirit of universality. And so the Fields Afar have not been neglected. They have called for our aid, and we have given it, mite tho' it was, happy to know that we have to our credit for all eternity the performance of a wee little corporal work of mercy. India, that great land of promise, has been of special interest to us. Through the easy method of "buying" little pagan Indian babies who have been thrown away by their parents, we have redeemed them, and brought them into the True Fold. With the zeal that only the missionary spirit can inspire, we have set ourselves to the work of spreading the Faith by means of literature; and so all Catholic pamphlets are remailed, in the hope that this tiny seed will fall on fertile ground. Raffles are also conducted, and used stamps and tinfoil are collected on all possible occasions. Nor do we forget prayer—that, above all, will help in the great work of bringing to Jesus those of His children who still "sit in darkness and in the shadow of the valley of death."

Language fades before thy spell!
Why should Feeling ever speak,

Love's are even more false than they;
Oh! 'tis only music's strain
Can sweetly soothe, and not betray.

WELL may it be said concerning us—beauty is our ideal, perseverance our means, success our goal!

We have been led through a veritable fairyland of beauty, and to our amateur eyes have, as it were with magic brush, accomplished marvelous creations. It will not be without regret that we will leave our most pleasant occupation—still we hope in future years to help others to enjoy the beauties of art.

May we, one and all, have the courage to remain true to our motto: "Success comes in Cans, not in Can'ts."

Clippings from The Citizen and The Times

S. G. P. Gives Welcome Dance

October 16, 1925.

Of considerable interest was the Welcome Dance at St. Genevieve-of-the-Pines last evening. This dance is given annually by the girls who have attended school there the preceding years, in honor of the new entrants. Always a success, it was unusually so this year, and was enjoyed by the college and academy pupils.

The color scheme was attractively carried out, the hall being decorated with festoons of red and white paper, attached to the walls and drawn to the ceiling in the center of the room where they were there suspended thus forming a sort of dome.

The Night Hawk orchestra was engaged, which furnished sufficiently "peppy" music for the dancers.

Father Bour Lectures at St. Genevieve's

October 21, 1925.

The Very Rev. Louis Bour gave an interesting lecture on Spiritism yesterday. The main object of this talk was to show that Spiritism in the majority of cases has no real foundation. He gave several instances to prove that most of the work of so-called spiritists is trickery and fraud. He stated that Asheville has been visited by a number of these fortune tellers and spiritists.

Hallowe'en Dance

November 1, 1925.

The witches were abroad at St. Genevieve's last night and the Entertainment Committee celebrated their arrival by a charming dance. The music was furnishes by "The Night Hawks," and the Committee served delightful refreshments to their weird guests. Prizes for best costumes were awarded to the Misses Helen Gude and Mary L. de Give, who came as "Artist and Model," and to the Misses Natalie Martinez and Elisita Stuntz, as "Rainbow Girls." The Misses Mary Lawrence and Elisita Stuntz were given prizes for the best dancing.

Armistice Day

November 12, 1925.

The girls at St. Genevieve's Academy celebrated Armistice Day yesterday. In the morning there was a basketball match between the "Reds" and the "Greens," in which the "Greens" were victorious. This was followed by a volley ball match between the "Blues" and the "Yellows," the "Blues" carrying off the honors. In the afternoon there was a "weenie" roast in our favorite valley on the campus.

Last night it was the privilege of the Seniors to see the operetta, "The Student Prince." This was a very happy ending to a most enjoyable day.

Thanksgiving Day

November 28, 1925.

Thanksgiving Day was observed yesterday by the girls of St. Genevieve's. In the morning the "boxes" were opened and the girls, in groups, went to distribute clothing and provisions to several poor families in the city. In the afternoon the entire school attended the matinée—"Old Clothes."

Last night the Senior and Junior classes had a feast in the high tower of the building.

Feast Day Observed

December 9, 1925.

The feast of the Immaculate Conception was observed at St. Genevieve's yesterday. The program of the day was as follows:

7:30 a.m.	High mass.
11:00 a.m.	Basketball match between Reds and Greens. Greens victorious.
2:00 p.m.	Moving picture: "Peter Pan" in the School gymnasium.
5:00 p.m.	Reception of the Children of Mary.
8:00 p.m.	Party given by Children of Mary for new members, at the college. Dancing was enjoyed; also a unique guessing contest in which Miss Mary L. de Give carried off the honors. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Christmas Entertainment

December 18, 1925.

The St. Genevieve's Academy "Christmas Tree" was held yesterday. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated in true Christmas style and formed a becoming background for the gayly dressed tree. The Entertainment Committee, taking the place of Santa Claus, distributed unique toys to all present, among which were singing birds, climbing monkeys and squeaking mice.

"Bohemian Girl" at Auditorium

January 14, 1926.

"The Bohemian Girl," given at the auditorium last night, by the Valentine Opera Company, was heard by an interested audience, among whom were the girls of St. Genevieve's Academy.

St. Genevieve's Day

January 19, 1926.

According to custom, last Tuesday was celebrated as the Feast Day of St. Genevieve. Classes were held as usual in the morning; the pleasure program following. During dinner a guessing contest was held. Miss Mary Lawrence won the prize.

At 3 o'clock a movie, "The Ancient Mariner," was shown in the gymnasium.

The day was also observed as Library Day and many donations were made, the most valuable of which was a handsome set of Encyclopedia given by Rev. Mother Lorin. After supper each girl dressed to impersonate a well known book. The prize for the most original representation was awarded to Miss Helen Gude and Miss Mary Lawrence who came as "Orphans of the Storm."

Father Bour Speaks to Student Body

February 11, 1926.

At St. Genevieve's Academy yesterday the Very Rev. Louis Bour gave an interesting discourse on the mooted questions of history among which were—The divorce of Napoleon and Josephine; The Spanish Inquisition; The divorce of Henry the Eighth; The Problems of the Great War.

He cleared up many points that before were vague in the minds of some of his hearers. This lecture was especially valuable to students of history.

College Sorority Bridge at West Asheville

February 13, 1926.

The Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority of St. Genevieve's College gave a benefit bridge at the home of Mrs. Dale Thrash in West Asheville yesterday. The high score price was won by Miss Virginia Williams of the College. The Misses Helen Gude, Elizabeth Otis and Mrs. Wayne Beachboard cut consolations. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Valentine Party at White House Inn

February 15, 1926.

Yesterday, the White House Inn was the scene of a delightful Valentine bridge given by the girls of St. Genevieve's Academy. The high score was won by Miss Margaret Jarboe and the second by Miss Mary L. de Give. Miss Louise McCormack cut the consolation. Refreshments, consisting of chicken salad, hot rolls, coffee, ice cream, cake and mints were served. The Valentine motif was carried out attractively in the decorations.

College Dance

February 15, 1926.

The Misses Mary Lou Williams and Dolly Rutledge of St. Genevieve's College, entertained the College girls and the Academy seniors with a charming dance last night in the college building. Festoons of hearts were strung from the chandeliers to the corners of the room, the curtains also were decorated with many hearts.

A feature of the evening was a dancing contest to determine the most graceful couple.

This was won by the Misses Mary L. de Give and Margaret Jarboe.

Ice cream, cake and coffee were served to the dancers.

Dancing Exhibition

February 15, 1926.

An exhibition was given yesterday by the dancing pupils of St. Genevieve's Academy, under the direction of Mrs. Hemphill. The dancers showed unusual grace in their interpretations and the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Washington's Birthday

February 22, 1926.

George Washington's birthday was enjoyed as a holiday by the pupils of St. Genevieve's. A picnic to Zealandia Castle was the principal event of the day. The Preparatory department presented a delightful playlet, of historical character, that evening.

Picture "Red Hot Tires"

February 24, 1926.

The Reverend Mother of St. Genevieve-of-the-Pines prepared yesterday a most delightful treat for the pupils, in the form of a moving picture, "Red Hot Tires." This entertainment was enjoyed greatly by the spectators.

Mr. Thompson Heard at S. G. P.

February 26, 1926.

Edward Abner Thompson gave his fourth successive interpretative reading at St. Genevieve's yesterday. This year Mr. Thompson enacted "Hamlet" which is well known and loved by the students. All enjoyed this appearance of Mr. Thompson and are looking forward with interest to his return.

Galli-Curci at Auditorium

March 11, 1926.

Last evening the girls of St. Genevieve-of-the-Pines had the pleasure of hearing the recital of Miss Amelita Galli-Curci. This wonderful concert was greatly enjoyed by the pupils.

St. Patrick Honored

March 18, 1926.

The glorious feast of St. Patrick is always a cause of great celebration at St. Genevieve's. The usual program was prepared by the choir for Mass and Benediction and never before was the hymn "Hail Glorious St. Patrick" sung with greater zest. The College gave a big tea and dance on the afternoon of the 17th for their Library Fund. This is an annual event and is always anticipated with pleasure. In the evening the Academy Dramatic Club presented a delightful comedy and the Schubert Music Club offered an interesting program.

French Entertainments

March 18, 1926.

The French Conversation Classes of St. Genevieve's Academy entertain the faculty and students of that institution quite often with delightful French playlets and recitations. Besides the pleasure afforded to all, a remarkable understanding and knowledge of the French language is shown by the reciters.

Feast Observed

March 19, 1926.

The feast of St. Joseph was celebrated at St. Genevieve's in the usual manner. The convent choir gave a beautiful rendition of sacred music at Mass and Benediction. A supplementary recreation was awarded the pupils. As St. Joseph is a patron of the Congregation of Christian Education all three schools contributed to the program which took place in the evening. The Preparatory presented a series of tableaux and recitations. The Academy Dramatic Club gave a play and the Schubert Club, piano and vocal solos. The College offered suitable readings and piano solos.

Enjoyable Entertainment

March 26, 1926.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the year was afforded the pupils of St. Genevieve-of-the-Pines last night, in the recital of M. and Mme. Armand Duprat. These artists are touring America singing French songs of many centuries in the costume appropriate to each epoch illustrated. The repertoire contained selections from the twelfth to the twentieth century included. M. and Mme. Duprat are endeavoring to make French language and literature better known throughout America. Being accomplished musicians and singers, their performances are greatly enjoyed by their audiences.

Ponselle Heard by Enthusiastic Audience

April 12, 1926

The recital of Miss Rosa Ponselle at the Auditorium last night was heard by an enthusiastic audience among whom were a number of students from St. Genevieve's. This recital was enjoyable in the fullest sense of the word and many tributes have been paid to Miss Ponselle's voice. The program was well chosen, containing two operatic selections and many French, German, Italian, Spanish, and English folk songs.

Saturday Picnics

April 13, 1926.

Saturday afternoon is always looked forward to eagerly by the St. Genevieve's Academy girls. It is then that the Academy Entertainment Committee springs the most delightful surprises. Sometimes it is a wiener roast in a clearing near the school, or a marshmallow and apple roast. Most often it is a "junk" picnic. This does not sound so inviting, but have you ever tried one? After a walk of a mile or more, the girls stop at any little store along the way and "collect" provisions.

Having made these purchases they seek a secluded mountain spot. All around, the happy girls behold God's handiwork in Nature and as they walk along, they glory in the fresh air of the Land of the Sky. As the afternoon is drawing to a close they enjoy their picnic and then start homewards. These impromptu affairs make Saturday well worth waiting for.

Anticipations!!

April 15, 1926.

Rumor has it that there are many delightful entertainments in store for the pupils of St. Genevieve's. On April fifteenth the Biltmore Horse Show will be witnessed by a "Privileged" group of students. On the eighteenth the picture "The Big Parade" comes and among the audience will be a number of us. Beginning May eighth a series of parties will be given by the various classes in honor of the graduates. Towards the end of May comes the long anticipated Annual Picnic. This is always a joyful occasion. Finally June the first will usher in Commencement exercises which close a year that has been full of joys for all.

The End of a Perfect Day

A flaming sky of rainbow hue,
Coral, pink, and azure blue,
The mountains veiled in misty grey,
We have come to the end of a perfect day.

We sit and dream of days gone by,
Some glad, some sad, and then we sigh
Why can't a sunset like this stay?
Prolonging our "end of a perfect day."

HUMOR

The Editors Easy Chair

There is a young senior named Helen,
Who at St. Genevieve's is dwellin',
  Of dignified mien
  Befitting a queen,
Of our love for her, there's no tellin'.

There's a joking young lass Mary Jane
Whose cooking would ne'er give a pain;
  She's a jolly good sport,
  On the basketball court;
It means much her friendship to gain.

There's a quiet young senior called "L."!
The most of her thoughts she won't tell;
She often is prone,
To be quite alone,
'Cause her company will do just as well.

Bertha, a charming young Senior,
Is perfect always in demeanor;
She worries a lot,
Over lessons not got,
After exams she's very much leaner.

There is a young Senior from Greensboro,
Who in most things is very thorough.
She surely is sweet,
And always looks neat,
Our dear little Margaret from Greensboro.

Bertha S.: "I had a tooth pulled this morning."
Mary Jane: "Did you have an anesthetic?"
Bertha S.: "No—a toothache."

Margie: "What is this clock of St. Genevieve's they are talking about putting in the Annual?"
Betsy: "What clock? Oh! you mean the Watch of St. Genevieve's."

Geraldine (on board boat for Cuba): "What makes the boat jump about so?"
Elisita: "It must be on a tack."

St. Genevieve's Revised

"St. Genevieve's" became so strict,
The girls complained right much,
At last they thought they'd change the rules,
Revised they were as such:

"Students must rise, but not till ten,
Must breakfast in their bed,
Must study some, but not too much,
Much work is bad, 'tis said."

"Students must dress in morning frocks,
So pleasing and attractive,
Must lounge around till one o'clock,
For why should they be active?"

"After lunch there'll be no class,
The girls must dress for town,
For tea dance, movie of some kind,
Or else just sit aroun'."

And so the year they flitted through,
But alas! I'm bound to say,
The girls did now complain so much
They went back to the good old way.

Ode to Jacquette

Ave et vale Jacquette!
  Our friend and our lost companion,
Our ever beloved coquette,
  Our strong and dependable stanchion.

Ave et vale old friend!
  Long will we remember and well——
To you our best wishes we send
  In the distant place where you dwell.

Ave et vale Jacquette!
  How we miss you we ne'er can say.
Often we sigh for our lost pet,
  And wish she were back for alway.

Fight of the Juniors

(With apologies to Alfred, Lord Tennyson)

"Half a mark, half a mark,
Half a mark higher.
All in the fight of school,
The pupils came nigher.
When will the mark be made?
'We will make the mark,' they said,
As into the fight of school,
Plunged the poor pupils."

"But the mark isn't made!
Was there a girl dismayed?
Not though each one knew,
Some one had blundered.
Their's not to make reply,
Their's not to reason why,
Their's but to do, and—cry,
Over the marks they made,
While all sadly pondered."

"Lessons to right of them,
Lessons to left of them,
Lessons in front of them,
More and more lessons.
Stormed at with words pell-mell,
Hard they tried and well,
Tried again the mark to make,
Tried hard and well,
So none would blunder."

"Flashed all their pencils bare,
Flashed as they turned in air,
Solving the problems there,
Learning their lessons while
All the school wonder'd.
Plunged in lessons hard,
To make the fortnight card
Better and better.

Reel'd from the teacher's stroke,
Shattered and sundered,
They won't give up because
Some one blundered."

"When can their glory fade?
Oh! the wild fight they made!
All the school wonder'd.
Honor the fight they made!
Honor the marks they gained!
Noble nine Juniors!"

ALUMNAE

MISS MARY GIBSON
PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

Charleston, S. C.,
April 16, 1926.

My dear Girls:

The Annual Staff has asked me for a letter—for publication. A letter to the Alumnae Association! I did my best to get out of it!—by being almost rude—but being cornered by a most threatening telegram announcing "THE VICTORIAN going to press awaiting your letter" and very auspiciously signed "The Staff," I hasten in much trepidation to write.

June is almost here and with June come school closing, Commencement plays, all the excitement and happiness of anticipation of Summer vacation. Those who are graduating have the great happiness of knowing that they have accomplished the first real dream of their life, (how many more they may be dreaming remains to be seen); but with their joy is the sorrow of good-byes and separation from those who have been friends and protectors during years in their lives that have meant much in the formation of their characters, and whose influence and teaching are felt and put into practice long after school days are gone, and they take up the responsibilities that come with the years. But what has all this to do with us? Some of us have long since graduated and many of us are so busy that after all June is only June—a beautiful month when we can appreciate God's gracious gifts in Nature, and those among us who are housekeepers can be deeply grateful that Winter has gone and the coal bills won't be so high. Yet even if we are "old girls," June does mean something to us as far as dear old St. Genevieve's is concerned. It means Alumnae Day! It means for those who can come, meeting again the dear Sisters, it means the reunion of classmates, visiting again classrooms, favorite campus spots. It means reminiscences, calling to mind days of happiness and—for some—incidents that at the time of happening were filled with fear, and now cause a hearty laugh. We also hear with deepest interest about those who are not present, and to crown it all we have a delightful banquest tendered us by Reverend Mother. To those who cannot be at the Alumnae Day exercises, it means memories, so whether we are able to be there or whether we are far away Alumnae Day will bring to our minds St. Genevieve's, and what she stands for, and from the hearts of all who know her and love her, as we her children do, will arise the prayer—God bless her!

Two years ago you made me your President. You could not have chosen one less fit to "carry on"—nor could you have chosen one who loves St. Genevieve's more. I have tried to do my best and in judging results I hope you will be lenient. My one aim has been to get all to show the love and interest I know each one feels, by keeping in touch with St. Genevieve's. It does help considerably to know what people think and have them show it. I am sure each one feels proud that she is a member of the Alumnae Association of St. Genevieve's. I am sure each of you wants your Association to be the best in the country. It can be if you make it so—and it should be, for a school like St. Genevieve's and girls like you. Make it so by your interest. Don't cast notices aside with the intention of answering later—answer now. Don't put off sending Babies' photos for THE VICTORIAN, if you are happy Mothers, as many of you have done this year. Don't put off paying dues until next year—do it this year. Offer your suggestions and ideas and always remember—it is your School and your Association.

And now—I thank you all for the confidence reposed in me. To the next President of the Association I pledge my loyalty and support in all undertakings. May we the Alumnae Association of St. Genevieve's Academy carry with us through our lives the lessons taught us within those dear walls—and may we be ever ready to give honor where honor is due, by our co-operation and help "to St. Genevieve's for aye."

With best wishes to one and all, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

MARY A. GIBSON.

A glass of clean, creamy, pasteurized milk has building and tonic properties. It acts at once upon a child's dormant energy; it carries to the blood an immediately utilized food, acting as a restorative and renewer. To the muscles, milk brings protein, causing them to gain in strength and endurance. Throughout the body, the action of milk is felt in a new, keen stimulation which never wears off when this food is kept coming. The body is flooded with the most minute of bacteria which fight to the last against unfriendly and malignant disease-germs—and usually win the majority of the battles. The milk protects while it nourishes and strengthens.

Electricity----the Power Behind a Nation's Progress

A comparatively short time ago, the progress of civilization had been checked by seemingly impassable obstacles. Brute strength was its main-stay, its burden lightened only by a very few simple labor saving devices.

Then—the miracle of electricity. Cities long in the comparative darkness of oil and gas illumination sprang into a blaze of light. Electric transportation made all parts of a city accessible in a few minutes. Working conditions were improved on every hand. All this has been accomplished through the service of Public Utilities, and whose benefits have transformed a world.
